

Mental Health Research UK PhD Scholar at the University of Oxford

We are pleased to invite UK and EU applications for the Children and Young People's PhD Scholarship 2018 to conduct psychological research towards a doctoral degree within the Early Psychosis research group at the University of Oxford. The doctoral degree will start in October 2018.

The focus of the research will be to identify the specific needs of parents with psychosis, the needs of their children, and the inter-relationship between them. The project will conduct a series of studies using a range of approaches, including qualitative interviews, observational studies, and experience sampling. The findings will inform the development and delivery of tailored interventions for these families.

This research will be supervised by Dr Louise Johns and Professor Jane Barlow and will be based in the University Department of Psychiatry.

The scholarship funds a stipend (currently £14,553 per annum), plus university tuition and college fees. This is supported by a grant from Mental Health Research UK and Schizophrenia Research Fund.

Applicants should have, or expect to gain, at least an upper second class honours degree in psychology or related discipline. Interests should include psychosis, parenting, and early interventions.

Applications should be sent with a CV and a covering letter to Tracy Lindsey at tracy.lindsey@psych.ox.ac.uk or to Tracy Lindsey, University Department of Psychiatry, Warneford Hospital, Headington, Oxford. OX3 7JX.

Deadline for submission of applications: Monday 4th December 2017 by 12.00 noon (UK time).

Interviews will be held on Monday 11th December 2017 in Oxford.
